TOWN MANAGER COMMITTEE ENDORSES CANDIDATES

LASH OUT AT GROUP WHO DREW UP SECRET SLATE

(Editor's Note: The following communication has been received from the Town Manager Study Committee that spent much time and effort in preparing the original Town Manager Charter that was accepted by the voters at the last Annual Town Meeting.)

No election of Selectmen in Wilmington has attracted so much concern on the part of all voters during a full generation as is the case in this coming election of March 1951. Upon these five officials will fall the responsibility of selecting and appointing the first Town Manager and upon them will rest also the opportunity of full cooperation with the manager or the opportunity of deliberate sabotage calculated to make a progressive administration impossible.

Because of this serious situation, the former Town Manager Study Committee which labored long and faithfully to create the charter and carry its adoption to the ballot of the people, has now reconvened for a series of meetings designed to appraise the candidates and give an honest and unanimous opinion to the voters as to what they may expect from each candidate if and when elected. Mr. John Hayward, a member of this committee attended the first of these meetings and then voluntarily eliminated himself from further participation because of becoming a candidate for the 2 year term. However, while attending the initial meeting of the committee he stated that he was in complete sympathy with our plan of appraisal of the candidates and public endorsement of those whom we consider fitted for the coming task.

The committee agreed early in its deliberations that our endorsements would be based on three qualifications as follows:

1. The known attitude of the candidates toward the Selectman- Manager form of government.

2. Past record as a Town officer or as a general participant in Town affairs.

3. General ability based upon education, present employment status, etc.

To clarify the first category, the committee is entirely unimpressed by the assurances of any who leaped upon the band wagon in the last four months after this form of government was voted into effect by a big majority of the voters. The committee remembers all too clearly the public utterances of many who bitterly opposed the whole experiment from the beginning, some of whom actually threatened that they would continue to fight it even if and after it was adopted. Obviously, no such person should be elected to the Board of Selectmen at this time as it seems certain that he would be a detriment to the progress the Town hopes to achieve.

There are several candidates who accepted frankly and honestly this progressive forward step from the first and others who evidenced an open mind and a willingness to hear both sides impartially. These people became in time strong advocates of Manager government. Such candidates will have the enthusiastic endorsement of the committee.

No clarification of the second or third qualifications is necessary; it is highly important that all voters be interested in the type of service rendered in the past by any aspirant for Selectman at this time, and equally natural that the voters will place more confidence in a candidate who has made or is making a success of his life in business or his chosen profession.

Our slate, if our readers choose to so regard it, is entirely unlike in purpose another slate secretly prepared and as secretly circulated. That slate exists only for the purpose of glorification of a "clique" of selfish individuals whose principle desire is the acquisition of power.

Our slate is designed for the sole benefit of the public, the voters, the over-burdened taxpayers of our Town, and to secure for our fellow-citizens, a Board of Selectmen who will select a Town Manager strictly according to the expressed provisions of the Charter and give him constant, loyal and faithful support with maximum cooperation. No member of the undersigned former Town Manager Study Committee seeks anything for himself, neither an elective nor appointive office. We do seek however, a clean and decent administration devoid of religious or political Bigotry with fair and equal treatment for all citizens of the Town.

We are endorsing therefore the following candidates for election to the office of Selectmen who have given us over a considerable period of time satisfactory proof of their intentions and attitude toward our coming Town Manager and the form of government he represents.

Selectman for 1 year term:
Henry J. Lawler
Selectmen for 2 year terms:
Gardiner I. Ritchie
Joseph H. Woods
John Hayward
Selectmen for 3 year terms:
Wavie M. Drew
Millard Pipes
respectfully submitted
The former Town Manager Study Committee.

Talk Given About Korea

The weekly meeting of the Rotary Club was held last Wednesday at the Masonic Hall with president Earl Sylvester in charge.

The invocation was said by Rev. Stanley Cummings.

After the luncheon, singing was led By Stephen Bean.

Al Osterman distributed tickets to those who are going to attend the Golden Gloves bouts in Lowell on February 21st.

The president introduced two visitors from Winchester, and three from Reading. Al Osterman introduced his guest Frank Mayo, and Henry Porter introduced his guest Frank Kidder, the oldest citizen in Wilmington. John Cooke introduced the speaker of the day, Earl Cheney.

Mr. Cheney has just returned recently to this country after being stationed on the 38th parallel in Korea. His unit was responsible for the setting up of government, business, schooling, etc. after the sections had been recaptured. He stated that Korea is full of disease, as the people have been kept down by the Japanese so long they do not have any health program, therefore, disease has a free hand. The country has two extremes as to climate. In the winter the temperature will sometimes go to forty below zero, and in the summer time has real tropical weather, the heat being unbearable.

After the business meeting, refreshments were served, which were provided by Mrs. Blanchard.

The meeting was closed with the singing of Brownie songs.

Aides To Victory Celebrate 9th Anniversary

Many letters are being received by the organization, expressing gratitude for the Christmas boxes which were sent to the boys. Lt. Albert Marfleet and Pfc John Ingalls were present at the meeting.

Mrs. David Martin of Boutwell Street and Mrs. Anthony Dalaimo of Parker Street, both members of the Aides were absent because of illness.

The next meeting will be held on March 6, with Mrs. R. Bigger in charge of the luncheon.

Auto Fire

Chicken Shed Goes Up In Flames

The fire department answered a call to Highland Avenue at 7:00 a.m. on Saturday, Feb. 10 where a chicken shed owned by Mr. Fleming had caught fire. Considerable damage was done to the property. Engines 1 and 3 responded.

Mysterious Explosion

A score of residents heard what they termed "a loud explosion" last Satuday morning at 6:00 a.m. Police and Fire officials were called many times by persons seeking an explanation. As yet the cause of the explosion is unknown but many theories have been offered. Local police when questioned by the Crusader, stated that there had been no permits issued to dynamite.

The most plausable theory is that some person or persons used dynamite to blow up a stump or rocks and that was the explosion heard.

Officials are most interested in finding out the exact cause of the explosion, do you have anything to tell them?

Car Damaged

A car operated by Gilbert Bowden of Lexington was reported to have been damaged last Monday evening on Main Street near Warner's gas station. According to Bowden the vehicle he was driving struck an object in the street which had obviously been lost off another vehicle. Local police are conducting an investigation into the matter.

Schools Organized

Local police have announced that the training program for schools with safety patrols within the town has been organized. Officers Imbimbo and Shepard recently conducted a tour of the schools and instructed the children in the necessary precautions dealing with the safety patrols.

Sunday Collection Day For Magazines For Veterans

Sunday, February 17, has been designated as collection day by the local hospitalized veterans' committee. To meet the tremendous demand by the veteran's hospitals throughout this area for magazines, Christmas cards, comic books, etc., the local committee has decided to make a house to house collection. The committee, headed by George Spanos, has asked the Crusader to publicize the drive and to ask all citizens to place on the sidewalk any old magazines, etc., that they have no further use for. Local truckers will make their rounds next Sunday to pick-up your bundles for hospitalized veterans.

Let's all join in and make the drive a success!

Formerly the collection headquarters was George's Restaurant on Main Street where scores of patriotic citizens brought in thousands of Christmas cards and hundreds of magazines. With the increase in demand for more magazines, etc., the committee was organized and after many discussions arrived at the only possible solution, to go to the homes of all the people of Wilmington. We hope that the drive will be successful.

Complaint Issued

A complaint of driving so as to endanger the life of others was issued against Emil A. Sylvan last Saturday morning at the Woburn District Court.

The complaint was issued as a result of an auto accident which occurred on Main Street January 30. A car operated by Emil A. Sylvan of Greenwood struck Anna MacDonald 19, of Hobson Avenue. The MacDonald girl suffered a fractured pelvis and multiple lacerations and bruises as a result of the accident.

Sylvan will appear in Woburn District Court this Thursday.

Returns Home

Mrs. Carlson of Lake Street was returned home from the Winchester Hospital last Monday in the ambulance by Officer Shepard.

Dog Killed

Arthur L. Redmond of Reading reported to police last Saturday that his car struck and killed a dog on Lowell Street. The dog officer was notified.

Wilmington High Wins 3 to 1

The Wilmington High School Hockey team, clinched its first victory of the season after three successive ties, by defeating Winchester 3 to 1 on Friday night, at the Wilmington Skating Club rink.

It was a fast starting affair with Carl Backman and Roland Smith scoring for Wilmington in the first period. Winchester tallied its only goal in this period. In the second period Harold Clements pushed the puck thru the goalie for an insurance point. Wilmington had it pretty much their way up to this point, but then Winchester started to dominate the play. The scoreless third period found Winchester throwing all it had, in vain, to score.

It was exciting near the finish as Winchester yanked their goalie and sent in a sixth skater, but Wilmington's defense held and Goalie Gene Hovey's superb net tending checked Winchester until the bell.

Did He Have The Right???

By John A. O'Brien

During the American assault on Attu Island in World War II, our soldiers came across a Jap, named Ito, badly wounded in his fox-hole. He and a companion had exhausted their ammunition. Each had held his last grenade against his stomach and pulled the pin. Ito's proved to be a dud. But his comrade's grenade exploded, disemboweling Ito and shattering his leg. When our soldiers found him several days later, he was still clutching his dud grenade.

His leg had now become a greenish, muddy, bloody mass of gas gangrene. The stench was terrific.

"Throw that stinking mess overboard," barked out a wounded gunner on the hospital ship, "before he suffocates us all."

"Gimme my trench knife," yelled an infantryman with a bayonet slash in his hip, "and I'll operate on him."

A few nights before, the Japs had broken through our lines and slaughtered some of our unarmed medical corps-men. The situation was tense—loaded with the dynamite of hatred, needing only a spark to ignite the fuse.

Lights had burned all night over the operating table. Finally the last American had been lifted from it. Dr. Cass Stimson, the chief surgeon, stepped forward.

Did he have the right to use the blood plasma, donated by an American to save an American's life, for the hated Jap? Did he have the right to endanger his life and those of his assistants by coming in contact with the highly infectious gas gangrene? Wasn't it their business to KILL Japs, not to SAVE them?

Here too were the passions of hatred and vengeance pounding at the central dogma of the Christian faith, the teaching that all men are brothers. Would religion gird him with the power to resist the flaming passions of nationalism and the clamor of hatred and vengeance?

"Bring him in," ordered Dr. Stimson.

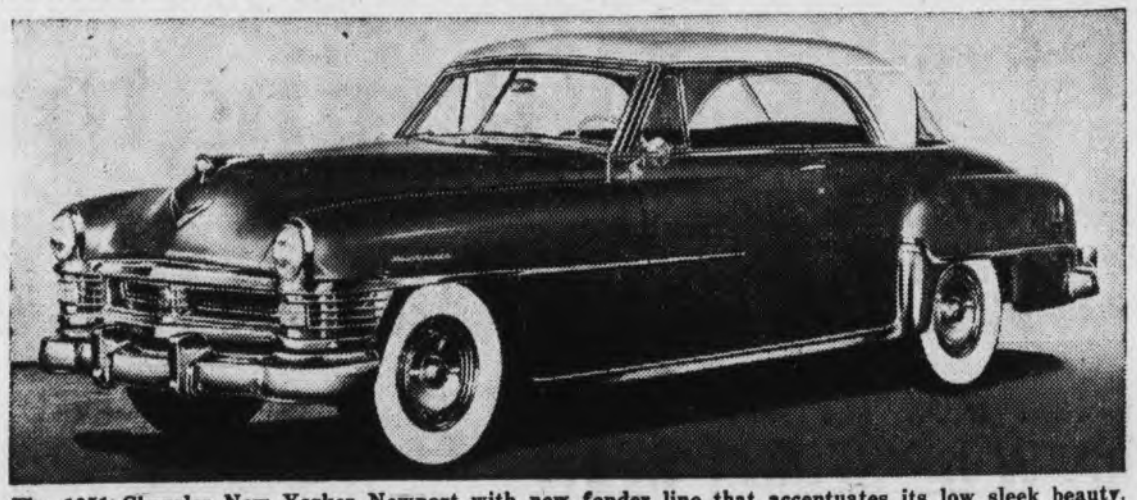

When the operation was over, tears of joy streamed down Ito's cheeks as he grasped the surgeon's arm, and sobber, "A-me-ri-ca! A-me-ri-ca!"

Here was the flowering of the central teaching of the Christian religion into a deed of service, kindliness and love for one's enemy. So knit together are we all as members of Christ, that we cannot unjustly harm any of our fellow men, even the most loathsome of our enemies, without injuring ourselves. Any cruelty inflicted upon that helpless Jap—even the refusal to relieve his pain—would have degraded those who inflicted it.

There is no cave deep enough for us to hide in, when the cry of suffering is heard, even though it be the cry of our enemy. Thus does religion stretch out her hands, full of healing, of beneficent service, of loving kindness to all mankind.

Chinaman's Choice

In my childhood our family lived in a Canadian seaport city. We sometimes saw strange people from strange lands, wearing their native dress. Whenever any of these foreigners passed by our neighborhood, on their way to the local stores, we always ran back to our own yard, where we stayed until they were safely out of sight.

One summer afternoon we were picking wild strawberries in our field, near the house, when we say a Chinaman coming towards us, making signs and jabbering. His hair was in a queue, he wore some sort of a pantaloon dress and a shiny knife hung from his belt. One look at the foreigner, and his knife and we fled in terror towards our home. The Chinaman followed us right to our back door.

Mother wasn't the panicky kind. Besides we had a telephone and knew house to use it. Leaving us to call the police, she went to the door and faced the Chinaman. He stood there, grinning, bowing politely and saying something that sounded like:

"Lady me buy dog."

"Sorry," mother replied, "me no sell dog."

"Please lady," rubbing his stomach, "me like dog."

"In this country, people no eat dogs, no sell dogs."

"People eat dogs," insisted the Chinaman.

"No eat dog, no sell dog, we keep dog, you please go way."

"No go way," pleaded the Chinaman, "just one fat dog."

"We have only one dog and he isn't fat."

"No, no," argued the Chinaman, "Lady have lots dogs."

"Where you see lots dogs?" asked mother.

"Come," smiled the Chinaman and walked towards the barn. Mother followed. Resting in the sunshine by the barn was a flock of white ducks.

"See, see," exulted the Chinaman, 'lady have lots dogs. Please one fat dog."

Mother smiled with relief, our dog was safe. "Take One."

The Chinaman walked slowly over, grabbed one of the unsuspecting ducks, held it under one arm, while he offered some dollar bills.

A dollar was accepted for the duck and the Chinaman bowed, smiled and departed. We had been told that they ate rice and rats, dogs and cats. This Chinaman preferred ducks. A.G.F.

Bear this in mind: While an atom bomb holds more death and destruction than man has ever before wrapped in a single package, it total power is definitely limited. Not even hydrogen bombs could blow the earth apart or kill us all by mysterious radiation.

IF YOUR DOG HAS BAD HABITS

It's easy for a farm dog to develop bad habits. It's almost as easy for you to break them. Here are some pointers on how you can help your dog convince himself that he shouldn't kill chickens, or snap at a cow's heels unless at your command. The instructions are from the informative Purina Farm Dog Book on how to care for and train the farm dog.

Killing Chickens

Some dogs develop a liking for chicken killing. So, if it has happened again that King has gotten hold of one, take the dead bird and tie to King's collar so that it hangs awkwardly between his front legs and reminds him of its presence at each step. Then, look him up for at least a day or two. Meditating alone all day, with a dead chicken tied to his collar, he will soon come to the conclusion that poultry better be avoided. This method incidentally can also be used if he digs up flowers or rose bushes. Discipline him with the flowers he has dug up, then keep them tied to his collar for a good while.

Excessive Barking

Quite frequently, when a new pup comes to the farm, lonesomeness and new surroundings may make him howl all night. To break this, make him comfortable on good bedding in his own quarters and confine him during the night. Then put some of your used clothing with the dog along with a ticking alarm clock. The familiar odor and the friendly ticking won't let him feel deserted.

A copy of the Purina Farm Dog Book may be purchased for 50c at Purina dealers.

A Chat with Marion

Wherever I travel, I hunt out the places that are famous for food . . . and if I can, I come away with the recipe that the place is famous for. For instance, at Antoine's, in New Orleans, the proprietor, gave me the recipe for their famous Oysters Rockerfeller, and permission to use it!

What's for dessert, Mom? Is this a familiar question in your house? Then you'll love this pudding recipe that I have for you today.

It's called Fudge Pudding. It's a crispy, cake pudding, with its own fudge sauce . . . and best of all, it's a basic recipe that can be varied. It costs about 30c for six servings, so it is economical too.

Mix 2 tbs. melted margarine, ½ cup sugar and 1 tsp. vanilla together. Sift 1 cup sifted flour, 3 tbs. cocoa, alternately with ½ cup milk to first mixture; mix well and stir in ½ cup chopped nuts. Mix together ½ cup sugar, 5 tbs. cocoa, ¼ tsp. salt and 1 2/3 cups boiling water. Turn into 10x6x2-inch baking dish or pan and drop batter by tablespoonsful on top. Bake in a moderate, 350 deg. F. oven 40 to 45 minutes. Serve warm. Spoon out a portion of cake and cover with sauce. Whipped cream, plain cream or top milk goes well with this pudding if it is served cold, because the chocolate sauce becomes quite thick.

For variations:

Black and White Pudding: Mix ½ pkg. white cake mix, and substitute for chocolate batter. Use same sauce.

Butterscotch Pudding: Omit cocoa altogether. Substitute 1 ½s cups brown sugar for white. (Use ½ cup in batter.) To make sauce, mix 1 cup brown sugar, 1 tbs. Flour, ¼ tsp. salt, 2 tbs. butter and 2 cups boiling water. Pecan meats are excellent with this.

Spice Pudding - Make same as Butterscotch Pudding, adding 1 tsp. cinnamon, ½ tsp. cloves and ½ tsp. nutmeg to batter and ½ cup raisins to sauce.

Chocolate Ginger Pudding: Mix ½ pkg. gingerbread mix as directed, and substitute for chocolate batter. Use same sauce.

I've another recipe for a pudding that can change its complexion at will, and I'll pass it on to you soon.

Like to spring something new on the girls when they come for luncheon before Canasta or Bridge or Sewing Club? The other day I went to a luncheon, and we had individual chicken pies, but the unusual thing about them, was a pie crust chicken perched on top of each pie! The hostess had cut them out of the pie crust with a cookie cutter, and stood one on top of each pie. They were the hit of the day! And it takes just a moment to make the little cut-outs, but, my, they do cause conversation!

Wondering what to serve for vegetables these mid-winter days? With a limited variety of fresh vegetables available, and the prices high for what are offered, it is a good time to use your own home-canned vegetables, or, if you aren't lucky enough to have your own, buy canned vegetables. I think it's nice to add a dash of seasoning from the cupboard shelf for a little flavor, now and then.

For Peas - add a sprinkling of nutmeg or a drop or two of lemon juice.

For Beets - add a little orange juice and grated rind.

For green beans - crumble bits of crisp bacon into them, or top with grated nippy cheese.

As a quick icing for cake - split chocolate covered peppermint patties and put them chocolate side up over the top of your cake after taking it from the oven. When the patties soften enough to spread, smooth them evenly over the top.

While I'm writing this, it's snowing outside! Guess we're going to get all our winter packed into a couple of months! But take time off to enjoy it . . . get out and take a walk with the youngsters. You'll feel so much better when you come back home, and those tasks which seemed so hard to get started on you'll find yourself tackling with renewed vigor!

Largest Peace-Time Year

Despite the fact that nickel was in tight supply during the latter half of this year, the amount available for distribution and Governmental stockpiling in 1950 was the largest for any peace-time year in the history of the Canadian nickel industry.

Ship Reactivation

The enlarged activity in the building and reactivation of both naval and merchant vessels has increased the demand for cupro-nickel alloys where they are employed extensively for condenser tubing and salt water lines to withstand the corrosive effects of sea water.

In 1942, the steel industry produced a total of 11 million tons of plates for war time use—enough to girdle the globe with a nine food band of steel half an inch thick.

World Sources of Nickel

Canada, the world's predominant producer of nickel since the early part of this Century, continued in 1950 to furnish the industrial world with the major portion of its requirements. This year's nickel output of the French New Caledonian deposits is reported to have been sufficient to meet the requirements of French industry. No information is available on Russia's 1950 production of nickel.

Helps Material Shortages

Use of clad materials, such as nickel-clad, Inconel-clad and Monel-clad steel continued to expand this year. To help relieve pressure on these materials in their solid form during the last half of 1950, many users found it possible to substitute clad metals.

You and Me and the Other Fellow

"Do you think the old 8:08 will run today, Dad?" asked my 12-year-old son as my family assembled for breakfast last Monday. "The radio said the situation is bad."

"From what I hear, I think the B and M will run, Son, but a railroad strike such as this points up how much everybody in the United States is dependent upon the other fellow."

"That's right," said my high school daughter, "without trains we certainly wouldn't have such a variety of foods as regularly as we do today."

"And that goes for an awful lot of other things as well." I broke in, "for our country has grown on mass production and mass distribution, and so far there has been no form of transportation that can move as many things and as many people as far and as quickly as the railroads."

I took my last sip of coffee, glanced at my watch and started for the train. Curious, I thought to myself, it was about this time last year that the coal strike caused inconvenience in commuter services. I couldn't help a passing thought, too, about the many travelers who were stranded when trains stopped running.

And as my train pulled in, I realized again how much in life, in this particular day and age, is dependent upon co-operation.

CONFUSING CONFUCIUS

TOWN HALL NOTES —

Last Monday was an active evening at the Town Hall . . . With meetings of the Planning Board, Selectmen, and registration of voters taking place at the same time . . . Thirty-one voters registered . . . All three Selectmen present . . . Two of them arriving late . . . Routine business with Town Accountant Kelman . . . Discussion with Joseph DeLucia of Beech Street regarding drainage problem on that street . . . Granted permit for boarding infants to Shawsheen Avenue resident . . . Routine discussion with Street Commissioner White . . . Balance of the evening spent discussing the Articles for this year's lengthy Warrant . . . Congratulated the new father on the Board . . .

LET'S BID —

One of the best sellers of a few years ago was a book on the subject of what happens when you buck city hall. During the past year this column has taken several "pot shots" at our own Town Hall. Both the 1951 Town Report and the Warrant have been given to another printer without allowing The Crusader to bid for the work. One can't help but wonder if there is any specific reason for this.

SOCIAL EVENT —

Firm in the belief that next Wednesday's Military Ball will be more colorful than that of last year which was considered by many as the outstanding social event of the season, local VFW members have completed plans for their fifth annual ball to be held at Villanova Hall on the eve of Washington's birthday. A fifteen piece orcheatra, including two vocalists, will provide the evening's entertainment. Many special events have been added to this year's program.

POLITICS —

Many local organizations, in a sincere effort to help the Town, are planning on endorsing candidates for next month's election. The original Town Manager Study Committee already have had a series of meetings to consider the various candidates for the office of Selectman and their choices appear elsewhere in these pages. At least three other groups are expected to make similar public endorsements within the next week. A feature of the coming election will be the contest between Attorney David Elfman of Middlesex Avenue and Harold Melzar of Lake Street for the office of Moderator. No candidate filed nomination papers for this office and it will be necessary to "write in" your choice or affix a sticker to the ballot. Election laws insist that, to be counted as a legal vote, the sticker must be placed exactly in the proper space on the ballot. In addition, the voter using the sticker must pencil in the cross that signifies a vote.

OFF THE CUFF —

The local Red Cross committee are seeking volunteer collectors for their annual campaign to be held next month . . . Phone the Chairman at Wilmington 2655 if you want to help . . . Special meeting of the local VFW Post to be held tomorrow evening - Thursday - at their quarters on Main Street . . . All members are urged to attend . . .

Advertising Doesn't Cost . . . It Earns!!!

A little knowledge is a dangerous thing: and home mechanics who try to do their own electric wiring or regulate oil burners without proper experience often cause fire hazards. One such mechanic recently thought he could make a saving by taking home crank case oil and using it with ordinary No. 3 oil for which the heater was regulated in the heater. It is a mistaken economy to run the danger of fouling up the oil burner parts with anything but oil for which they are designed, and it may easily cause fire or a smudge that will ruin the interior of a house.

When pay-day rolls around, pay yourself first! You worked for it, get something out of it! Take a part of your pay each week and set it aside for yourself in the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. It's the systematic way to save in United States Savings Bonds. Join the plan that taught the nation's workers to save—do it today! Only $3.75 per week will be worth $2600 in Savings Bonds in just ten years.

Donuts Make It Easy To Make Desserts Delicious

Donuts have always been popular for breakfast, in lunch boxes, and between meals. These versatile favorites are wonderful, too, "dressed up" in quick, easy-to-make desserts (as illustrated above).

Especially recommended for flavor and freshness are Jane Parker Donuts. Dependably fresh, because they're dated fresh right on the package, these plump, golden-brown nuggets are being enjoyed at the rate of over 2 million every day. For a real dessert treat, try DONUT SHORTCAKE–Split donut into 2 circular halves. Place half in serving dish. Add fresh or canned fruit then other half of donut. Top with whipped cream and cherry. It's easy . . . colorful . . . always fine-tasting when made with Jane Parker Donuts sold only at A&P.

"LORD, TEACH US TO PRAY"

Long before Christ came upon the earth, men were resorting to prayer for divine help.

The people of Israel, we know, realized the power of prayer and prayed often in appeal for God's blessing in gratitude for His favors. Almost every one instinctively feels the need for prayer in time of danger and emergency.

Many people, unfortunately, do not know how to pray properly. Even the Apostles, watching as Jesus prayed, became conscious for the first time of the mighty power of a proper prayer. They could see on the Savior's face as He prayed, the reflection of a great inner peace and refreshment.

So they said to Jesus: "Lord, teach us to pray."

And Christ replied: "Pray thus . . . Our Father Who art in heaven, hallowed be Thy Name.

"Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven.

"Give us this day our daily bread.

"And forgive us our debts as we also forgive our debtors. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil."

The words of the "Lord's Prayer" are enshrined, of course, in the hearts of Christians everywhere. And yet Christ, in giving us this most beautiful prayer of all, did not tell us to "Pray this." He said: "Pray thus."

He meant that we must pray with the realization that God is truly our Father . . . that His Name is to be revered as no other . . . that His Will is to be done here and hereafter . . . that we are to be truly sorry for our injustices to others, and forgive those who injure us . . . and that we are to avoid sin.

People who question the value of prayer usually say they have tried it and "it didn't work." They mean by this, of course, that God did not grant the things for which they prayed. A better understanding of proper prayer would make clear to them that petition for God's favor is only one kind of prayer . . . and that God does not grant every favor which we may want or think we need.

Proper prayer is not merely a petition for blessings, but also an expression of our love, our devotion and our gratitude to God . . . a declaration of our acceptance of God as our Father . . . a submission of our wishes and our will to the wishes and the Will of God.

Every day . . . in every land and every tongue . . . a mighty chorus of prayer rises from the hearts of Catholics to honor God — to implore His blessing — to pay Him grateful thanks. For the Church teaches . . . and Catholics know . . . that there is no power in the hands of men so great as the power of prayer.

The most famous collection of prayers known to history is the Book of Psalms . . . prayers in which God Himself teaches us clearly the dispositions with which we should pray.

To help you in your prayers, we will send you a beautifully illustrated edition of the Book of Psalms free of charge. Write today and ask for your copy of Book of Psalms No. 11 — KC.

A Chat with Marion

Have you . . . a yen for a deep freezer - or have you one? I've looked at them longingly, but am not lucky enough to have one. However, snooping around as I do, I came upon a wonderful idea for making a deep freeze help you . . . and pay dividends! The gal I was talking to is a business woman, who loves to cook and have company, but just doesn't have time to come home after a day at the office and whip up a meal for four or six. However, that is where her freezer comes in. Wekends, when she has time, she cooks . . . then stores it in her deep freezer, to serve in a few minutes whenever the occasion arises. I thought to myself, "how wonderful for a homemaker with small children . . . she could cook whenever the opportunity presented itself, and then serve it with a flourish when pressed for time, or unexpected company arrives!" This friend of mine says she fries several chickens at a time, then stores them in the deep freeze for future use. Then she sifts flour into the fat in the skillet, and blends it well to make a good gravy base . . . 6 tablespoons flour to 4 tablespoons fat is about right. She makes the most of all those little crunchy bits that are left in the skillet, and incorporates them into this gravy base. Then she puts this base into covered jars and puts it in her deep freeze. To use, she thaws it, then adds four parts liquid to 1 part gravy base, and she says she has the smoothest, most delicious gravy in a jiffy, when she needs it. And, for us who are not lucky enough to have a deep freeze, here is an idea . . . make the gravy base, and store it in a refrigerator, and use as suggested above. It won't keep for as long periods as it would in a deep freeze, but it will keep for almost a week, and m-m-m is it good - just gravy and rice or noodles, or gravy over bread, toasted, for a hot, quick lunch . . . on a busy, busy, day!

Crowd coming in for hamburgers? Here's a tip you'll love. Mix the seasonings with the meat, pat out the mixture on a pastry board, and cut with cookie cutter to the right shape. Stack the patties between waxed paper, ready to cook on "short order"!

A quick and easy spread for hamburgers . . . mix catsup, mustard and chopped onion together, and there you are. Already to pass around the gang. How the young fry gobble this up!

Save that pickle juice! Use the juice left over from a jar of sweet or dill pickles to season French Dressing (use for part of vinegar in recipe), to thin mayonnaise for cole slaw, to baste baked ham, to make into a sauce for sweet-sour beets. Lady, don't you dare to throw that pickle juice out!

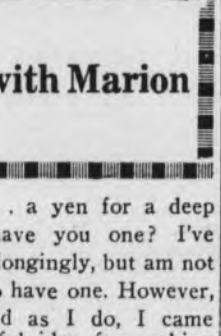

Do you use aluminum foil? If you don't I know you'll be converted to an enthusiastic user, if you try it. It and I are just hand in glove! Unlike waxed paper, foil can be used over and over, for this job and that. And, if you line your broiler or roasting pan with foil, it just makes washing that greasy thing, a pleasure! I don't know of any household job that I tackle, that I don't reach for that roll of aluminum foil! I even wrap it around my potted plants . . . it makes them so much more attractive, and serves a very useful purpose, too.

The fight against inflation is a deadly serious matter. Here is one enemy that has already infiltrated even to our very own homes! The control of food in this fight is going to be crucial, and the housewife is the vital soldier in this control. The freeze and thaw of wages and controls has left us all a little dizzy and very confused, but the Washington end of the control of food prices is a perfectly appalling job, and the men that are undertaking it and who will eventually make it work, deserve our fullest forbearance and support. For I for one am going to co-operate in every way I possibly can, for I know that while confusion seems to be everywhere at the moment, it will not be too long before things take shape and form, and we will be able to hold the line against inflation. Let's all be patient and willing to do our share, for we are the ones that WILL make it WORK!

Around the Studios

with Charlie Brooks

During his recent personal appearance stint at El Rancho Vegas in Las Vegas, Nevada, Gordon MacRae, star of NBC's "The Railroad Hour," is distinguishing himself not only as a singer—but as a dancer! It seems that Gordon has added to his entertainment repertoire a soft-shoe routine which, he says, was left over from a recent movie he made at Warner Brothers . . . The surprised audience loved it, and Gordon is wondering if he should go back and have the studio dance instructor teach him another couple of routines — just for emergencies!

The current storyline of CBS's "Wendy Warren and the News" deals with the problems of newspaper man "Don Smith," who has been in love with "Wendy," but who now — to everyone's surprise — plans to marry another young woman, "Kate." A letter, addressed to the program's sponsor, arrived this week, vigorously protesting this situation . . . "If Don marries that other girl," the listener said firmly, "I just won't listen any more — and we'll stop buying your coffee!"

Even in France, "Father Knows Best!" At least, the international influence of Bob Young, star of NBC's domestic comedy of that title is highlighted by a story in a recent issue of "Le Moutique," a Paris fan magazine. Entitled "The Double Life of Robert Young," the article draws very apt comparisons between the amusing — and often trying — situations which occur in the "Anderson" menage on the air—and those with which a French father is faced. Turns out, they are identical!

Peggy Wood, who plays the title role of "Mama" on the lively period-comedy viewed over CBS-TV Friday nights, headed back to her old home town of Brooklyn last week to find the "fixings" for an authentic Norwegian Christmas! When Director Ralph Nelson wondered aloud where they could get real Norwegian Christmas tree ornaments, Miss Wood not only recalled a certain shop in a Norwegian section of Brooklyn which she knew carried ornaments, but she volunteered to go over and pick them out herself!

AIR-DENDA: CBS-TV's "Musical Comedy Time" celebrated the holidays last week with a lively production of Victor Herbert's "Babes In Toyland" . . . The new "Renfro Valley" show, which is broadcast from Kentucky and features local talent, has on its show an 84-year-old grandmother, who dances, and plays both the harmonica — and the fiddle!

Seniors To Present Play

SUMMARY

Judy and Barbara Winsocket are determined that one of them will be Queen of the Community Relief Fund Dance, but first they have to settle with Tootsie Whiteman, Judy's arch enemy, who is also determined to be Queen. How they go about raising the money they need to beat Tootsie and the results of it all are disastrous. Mrs. Foster becomes a "lively lady" and Mr. Foster wins honorable mention in a "kissable lips" contest all due to Judy's efforts. Judy's next scheme is to write a "true confession story" this scheme also has a hilarious ending. Judy and Mitzi Hoffman next attempt to impress a visiting theatrical producer with their "savoir faire." Mitzi, chewing bubble gum, of course, is supposed to be a notorious French divorcee. When all their plans flop and as a last straw Oogie revolts and decides to take Tootsie to the dance, Judy dissolves in tears. How does it all end? Who finally becomes Queen? How does Judy get Oogie back? Well, I guess you will have to go to the play and find out.
